Obituary -- Tales Of The Dead

WEBSTER SPRINGS, WEST VIRGINIA, MAY 31, 1995

By Lakhinder Bhatia, M.D.

An obituary is a notice of someone's death. I was surprised to find out how many people read the obituary section of the newspaper. To my surprise almost half the readers admitted to reading the obituary column on a regular basis. The older a reader, the more likely he or she is to read the obituary section. In a small town virtually everyone finds some space in the obituary list. It is pitiable that during the lifetime of an individual no one seemed to care, but upon his death, the whole town came to mourn his or her passing away. In a big city only the influential and powerful find a place in the obituary list. It is almost an honor. It often depends upon the political views of the deceased. After all, who will publish a biographical sketch of an unknown entity if the person was not a politician?

I learned the politics of obituaries many years ago when I was in London. I was a young trainee physician and worked in a politically sensitive hospital. You were either a Tory or a Laborite, just as we are in this country -- a Republican or a Democrat, irrespective of your actual political views. One day I was asked to write an obituary for a man named David, and you know the rest. "Sir John, this is your chance to shine. What do you think of David?" "Logically it was not in the Daily Telegraph," he said. "They were talking about a distinguished physician and a man who died. The content of the obituary implied that the deceased was a conservative enough to deserve a few kind words in The Daily Telegraph, a conservative newspaper. In other words, even in death people did not spare Sir John for having different ideas which were not shared by the mainstream establishment. In England it is almost class consciousness.

Fortunately, America society is more transparent and class boundaries are less distinct. One may still find an obituary written in an American newspaper even when one is not an American and worse still, in some cases, downright anti-American. I can predict with a fair amount of confidence that when the time will come for Fidel Castro, the American media will cover his obituary extensively. Will it be an obituary with "grudging admiration" or venom, I honestly do not know. I am sure how Colonel Gaddafi will be treated. If obituaries are important historical records, the Colonel justifiably has the dubious distinction of being a terrorist.

No profession takes an obituary more seriously than doctors. The British Medical Journal has an obituary editor solely for compiling and writing obituaries of physicians. There is a three to five month waiting period before an obituary is published and only less than half make it in the obituary list. Although the dead do not complain, their living friends do. Most vocal and retired doctors who check every issue of the medical journal to find out which one of them has been bumped off. The reputed medical journal JAMA has an obituary list every week. It is like a graduation party for those who have finally made it to the end. For some physicians it is an ultimate step to immortality.

British doctors treat their obituaries with extreme seriousness and absurdity apart with some degree of eccentricity. Although the medical profession has a compulsory Medical Register of physicians, in their view it is not a historical record. For many, an obituary is an important historical record which also provides us information on the changes and attitude of the profession of the time.

There is always a minority whom you can never satisfy. Less successful physicians complain about an obituary of their competitors in bygone life who were more famous than them. To the living it is glorifying the dead. When some pragmatists advocated compromise that obituaries should be cut down to size so that more could be published in the journal, many cried foul and wanted well-elaborated biographical sketches including a photograph. Some doctors think obituaries are more interesting than poor quality research papers. The idea of a drug company-sponsored obituary is horribly absurd.

To write an obituary is not an easy task. In fact to write anything of substance is not an easy work. It requires time and timely research. It has to be factual. A self-written obituary would be less time consuming and more accurate. I find an obituary more interesting if it is written wittily. Since everyone is not a born writer, I am not sure how a self-written obituary would be more interesting unless it was written by a ghost writer. I once came across a self-written obituary which said, "Peter was a man of the time and did not continue to rot." He was a man in his own mind. "Success is a transient surgeon, he was God to his patients". "God" was not missed at Peter's self-eulogy. After Peter's death he was reminded, "Ye doctor, I don't care what you did on planet earth but around here there is only one God. And that is Me."

IN MEMORY OF A FRIEND

John Craig Ashford was born at the Sutton Homestead, near Greenbank, W. Va., March 31, 1871. Died at the C. & O. Hospital, Clinton Forge, Va., January 23, 1924, and was laid to rest in the Arbovale Cemetery on January 26th.

In the death of Craig Ashford, Pocahontas Co., has lost one of her most loyal citizens, and many of her people, a noble hearted and true friend.

Beginning in early manhood with no means to speak of, by untiring energy and industry, he succeed well in life, providing well for his household and acquiring considerable property in the meantime.

Upright and honest, kind and liberal hearted, he was always ready to lend a helping hand to those in need.

Always looking on the bright side of life, with his genial smile and cheery disposition, he won friends wherever he went or was known.

Though full of life and fun from his earliest childhood, he always stood up for the right. A jolly and generous playmate, a noble hearted and true friend always.

Though never having joined any denomination, he was always ready

the prime of life when he had much to live for. He met his fate (as he had always lived) uncomplaining and unafraid.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife,
two children, his aged parents, one brother and sister, and a host of relatives and friends, who will ever miss his cheery smile and hearty greeting till we meet him in the Great beyond where partings will be no more.

Oh how sad it was from him to part
The one with such a true and noble heart.

The one with the laughing eyes so
dear,

The one with the voice so full of cheer.

Oh how we hated to see him go,
To see the laughing eyes grow dim.
To feel the pangs of lifes' bitterest
woe,

No more on earth to be with him.

But we see a vision across the way
Of the sunlit shores of Eternal Day,
And with the throngs that have
gathered there,

The one that has gone, whom we loved so dear.

We leave this world, we cross the tide,

An Angel comes swiftly to our side,
We hear the voice, so familiar of yore saying, "Loved ones this Heaved, we part no more."

Samuel Harry Baxter, Rt. 1, Marlinton, died February 24, 1984, following a sudden illness.

burial in Mountain View Cemetery.

Rev. Joshua Buckley

Tuesday, April 23, 1901, this venerable and widely known citizen of our County died at the home of his son, John, near Buckeye, in the 92nd year of his age. The infirmities of age so advanced, aggravated by influenza are the apparent reasons for his decease.

Mr. Buckley is a lineal descendant of Joshua Buckley, the pioneer of Buckeye, coming there from the lower valley previously to the Revolution between 1770-75. For more than fifty years Rev. Joshua Buckley was a preacher in the pale of the M. E. church and a staunch promoter of the same, having been among the original members of the Pocahontas branch of that worthy denomination. He has probably officiated at as many if not more marriages than any minister that ever lived in our County. The sincerity of his piety was never questioned, his honesty above suspicion, and his sense of honor very elevated, for he would do what he deemed right at the peril of his life.

John Buckley, Jr., of Buckeye, Mrs. Asa McNeill and Mrs. Ulysses McNeill, of Sutton, Mrs. William McNeill and Mrs. Joseph Adkison, of Upper Swago, Rev. Mrs. Boggs of the M. P. Church, Mrs. Lum Silva and Mrs. Thomas, of Buckeye, are his children.

Marlinton Barber Killed In Automobile Accident

James Buzzard, 34, of Huntersville suffered injuries which led to his death several hours later when his car apparently went out of control and turned over on State Route 39 about three miles east of Marlinton. The accident occurred Sunday evening at about 6:30 as Buzzard was driving in the direction of Marlinton. He was alone in the car at the time and, so far as has been determined, there were no witnesses to the wreck. From the tire marks on and along the highway it has been deduced that the car went out of control on a slight curve left the pavement, swerved to the right and back to the left, traveling along the berm. When the car came back on the pavement, it turned over and rolled about 300 feet down the middle of the highway. Buzzard was thrown out of the car, apparently, about 60 feet from where the car finally came to a stop.

Jamie Abdella, Bob McComb and the Rev. Charles Yoho were among the first to reach the scene of the accident. While Rev. Yoho stayed with the injured man, McComb went for a doctor and Abdella hurried to Marlinton for an ambulance. Buzzard lived for nearly nine hours after being admitted to Pocahontas Memorial hospital.

John Barlow

Among the papers of Mrs. Deemie Barlow Galford was found the following obituary notice of her grandfather, John Barlow, written by the late Samuel Young and published in the Methodist Recorder:

"A few items in memory of an old friend and devoted christian, John Barlow, who departed this life January 23, 1866, was born November 26, 1781; joined the M. E. Church in 1803; was married December 18, 1804, to Martha Waddell who survives her husband. He was a class leader for a number of years, and as regular as the sun would rise and set he would have family prayer morning and evening. His son, N. G. Barlow, writes he had seen his father sit on his chair and pray when he could not bow the knee on account of rheumatism. No throng of business was so great as to hinder him from family devotion.

"His family consisted of fifteen children; while he lived to see sixty-three grand-children. He was a farmer by occupation. Like Nimrod, he was a great hunter. He had killed as many as sixty deer of an autumn, and as many as six in a single day. During his life he lived to see as many as 1200 in a single day. During his life he killed 1200 to 1500 deer, besides many panthers, wolves, etc. A short time before he died he was asked if he would like to live his life over again. He answered No, but said some times he would like to go to a certain woods and make another hunt.

"It was my favored lot to be acquainted with this old soldier of the Cross. From earliest recollection, I have ever loved him as a father. His family always seemed to me like brothers and sisters.

"I delivered at his house the last discourse on Sacred Writ heard by this father in Israel. I took for a subject Jacob's blessing conferred on his sons. He raised a better family than old Jacob did. He lived to see all of his children religious and honorably settled in life; another verification of the the truth of God's Word: Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old he will not depart from it.

"This old pioneer of religious morals will be greatly missed by a large circle of kindred and friends. No one can supply his place. He has gone to reap a rich harvest which he long since planted and has cultivated for more than three score years. Let me die the death of the righteous and let my last end be like his."

Howard Barlow Dies As Result Of Head-On Truck Collision

W. H. Barlow, 82, of Huntersville died in a hospital at Clifton Forge, Va., at 2:30 a.m., Wednesday, Sept. 11, 1957, as the result of injuries received in a head-on collision Monday. Graveside rites will be conducted Friday at 2:00 p.m., by the Rev. E. H. Flaniken in Mountain View Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife and one daughter, Helen, at home; a brother, Isaac Barlow of Huntersville, and a sister, Mrs. Harry Patterson of York Pa.

The deceased was a member of the Huntersville Presbyterian Church and Masonic Lodge No. 65. He was a director in the First National Bank in Marlinton.

Two pickup trucks were involved in the accident which resulted in Mr. Barlow's death. At about 5:20 p.m., Monday, Barlow and Cecil Pritt were heading south on the Browns Creek road in Barlow's International pickup.

Heading north was Gail Geiger of Durbin in a new Dodge pickup. The two vehicles met head-on just above Byrd's Place for reasons that have not been fully determined. The Marlinton Fire Company ambulance was called and, manned by Harry Hockenberry and Dale Curry, brought the injured men to the Pocahontas Memorial Hospital.

Pritt, who was employed by Barlow, is reported to have suffered a fractured skull and hip while Geiger suffered a severe cut on the head. Both are still confined to the local hospital where on Wednesday afternoon they were "doing very well."

Barlow, who was transferred to Clifton Forge Hospital early Tuesday morning, had been reported as suffering from several fractured ribs, one of which had punctured a lung, a broken hip and face injuries.

Mathew Lee Beard

Mathew Lee Beard, aged 85 years, died Thursday, May 12, 1938, after a long illness. On Saturday afternoon his body was buried in the family graveyard on the plantation west of Hillsboro. The funeral was conducted from the home by his pastor, Rev. E. Knight, of the Oak Grove Presbyterian Church.

Thus is chronicled the passing of one of our most prominent citizens and one of the best men Pocahontas County ever produced. He was a son of the late William T. and Mary McNeel Beard. His brother, Edgar, died many years since. He married Miss Emma Clark, daughter of the late Sherman Clark, who preceded him January 1, 1919. Their surviving sons are Henry, Assessor of Pocahontas County, and Joel; their daughters, Mrs. J. C. Johnson, Mrs. Eric Clutter and Miss Leeta. A son, M. L. Jr., died about 16 months ago; another son, Earl, met death by drowning in the Blue Hole, near Hillsboro, on January 4, 1924, and their oldest son, Sherman, died when a student in Hampden Sydney College in 1911.

In his veins coursed the blood of such pioneer first families as Beard, McNeel, Edmiston, Poige, Wallace and Warwick, and it can be truly said his life fulfilled the high traditions of such fine ancestry.

Mr. Beard was the largest individual land owner and the heaviest taxpayer of this county. A lasting memorial to his broad vision and public spirit is the Hillsboro High School.

Mr. Beard's health for some time had been such that medical attention could not be given. He gradually grew weaker and service was called on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Dr. Shires assisted by Dr. Arbovale and Dr. Kerr.

Mr Beard was the largest individual land owner and the heaviest taxpayer of this county. A lasting memorial to his broad vision and public spirit is the Hillsboro High School. Its establishment in no small part was due to his efforts and influence as member and president of the Levels District Board of Education. To the last year of his life he took an active and intelligent interest in public affairs. Only last summer he took a prominent place in the state convention of farmers at Jackson Mill.

In religion, Mr Beard was a member of the church of his fathers, the Presbyterian. He took an active part in the work of The Kingdom, and supported liberally all its causes. As a Ruling Elder he was prominent in the affairs of his congregation and in the courts of his church.

While a man of big affairs, taking the place of leader in civil, business and religious life of the county, I would remember my gentle kinsman as the man of the kindly, understanding heart; who met the great of the earth on equal footing, yet deferred to the feelings of a child; whom wealth did not make proud, nor honors spoil, nor personal sorrow and bereavement embitter.

Lawrence Neal Beverage, died Friday, October 1, 1976, in the Pocahontas Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Beverage was a retired farmer and blacksmith and was a member of the West Union Methodist Church.

He was born at Onoto, August 31, 1895, the son of Uriah and Virginia E. Townsend Beverage.

Preceding him in death were his wife, Annie Lange Beverage, three brothers, George, Howard Wade and Charles A. Beverage, and a daughter, Mrs. Lucy F. Davis.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon in Vanhook Funeral Home by the Rev. Ezra Bennett and Rev. G. M. Gum, with burial in the Marlinton Cemetery.

Mrs. Neal Beverage

Anna Lucy Lange Beverage, 79, of Marlinton, died Friday, April 28, 1973, in the Memorial Hospital in Marlinton.

She had had a bad condition for a long time. She died at Marlinton June 11, 1973. She was the daughter of John W. and Mary E.

Mattie Catherine Beverage died at the Marlinton Hospital March 13, 1924, aged 20 one month and 28 days. She was the daughter of Jacob (deceased) and Nancy A. Beverage who is now Mrs. Nancy A. Sharp. She leaves her mother, three brothers—Adam, Clawson and Leo, and four sisters—Mrs. Owen Kallison, Mrs. E. G. Galford, Mrs. Arnett McNeill and Mrs. Milburn Sharp. All were present at her funeral which was conducted at her mother's home on Saturday the 16th by her pastor, Rev. N. S. Hill of the M. E. Church, and her body was then taken to the home grave yard on the head of Stony Creek near Onoto, where her deceased father was buried thirteen years ago. Mattie was preparing herself for usefulness. She had completed the free school course and had attended high school one year, but on account of failing health and an operation for appendicitis she was going to high school this year and decided to be a trained nurse, so she was in training in the Marlinton Hospital. She had begun her work of training eight months ago, and Drs. Solter and Yeager of the Hospital, and Miss Flack, superintendent, say she was making a record breaker as a nurse. The nurses and patients in the Hospital give her the greatest praise for being kind, and affectionate and always ready and willing at her post of duty. The superintendent and nurses did all they could to show respect after her death. They also sent many beautiful flowers. The people in general did everything that could be done to show their respect to this much beloved girl. Mattie was a Sunday School scholar since childhood. She was a lover of music and had learned both vocal and instrumental. She made a profession of religion at the age of twelve years. She had a bright prospect but we trust that our loss is Heaven's gain. She is gone, our precious Mattie, To the realms of peace and love She is gone just over yonder. To that blessed home above.

JACOB M. BEVERAGE

Jacob M. Beverage was born Nov. 5th 1845, and died suddenly of heart trouble, at the home of his son, Robert in Prince Edward County, Virginia, Feb. 29, 1920. Aged 74 years 3 months and 24 days.

Mr. Beverage retired the night before in his accustomed health and vigor and in the morning when he failed to rise, his wife attempting to wake him found that his spirit had taken its flight.

He came to Prince Edward County a few years ago from Pocahontas County, W. Va. E Church in early manhood. His body was laid to rest in the Presbyterian Cemetery, on Wednesday, March 3rd. The services were conducted by Rev. Geo. F. Bell pastor of the Douglas Church.

He leaves to mourn his loss; his wife, who before marriage was Miss Rachel McLaughlin, one son, Robert; two daughters, Mrs. Savannah Waugh and Mrs. Lena Gay, with a host of friends and relatives.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord. Yea, saith the spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

OSCAR A. BIRD

The death of Oscar A. Bird, one of the prominent and well known citizens of this county and this city at an early hours last Wednesday morning was a severe shock to many friends and occasioned profound regret and sorrow on all sides. But he became ill suddenly and succumbed to malignant endocarditis. Few even were aware that he was ill and that contributed to the shock.

In Memoriam

Hershel Lee Bussard, born February 4th, 1930, left us in the early morning of January 29th, 1940, at the age of eleven months, twenty-four days, after a sudden attack of pneumonia. He died at his home near Huntersville and his little body was taken to his grandmother's, Mrs. L. S. McArty, at Frost. The funeral was held at the Frost Church, by the pastor of this church. He was buried at the Mt. Zion cemetery.

Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all,
The blow was great, the shock severe
We never knew his death so near.
Few weeks have passed since that
sad day,

When the one we loved was called away.

Forget him, no, we never will
We loved him then, we love him still.
Yes, one by one, the Lord will call us
When our task on earth is done.
Home is sad, Oh, God how dreary,
Lonesome, lonesome, every spot,
Listening for the voice of little Her-
shel Lee,

Silent for we hear him not.

We can never forget you little Her-
shel Lee,

While in this world we stay
When the form of death overcomes Meet us dear little Hershel Lee, on the way.

Budded on earth to bloom in heaven.
